FOR BUSY READERS

John Thomas, a negro convict at the state penitentiary, made his escape while being taken to the prison farm with other inmates. Thomas was serving a life sentence for murder committed in Knox county in 1911.

Wheat yield in Knox county as a whole will be about twenty-five or thirty per cent better than was estimated about four months ago, according to A. Jesse Winegar, Knox county farm agent.

In order to prepare for the number of practical courses which the government and Red Cross have been calling the faculty of Peabody college, Nashville, is to be materially increased within a short time.

The only case of evasion of registration that has come to the attention of the Nashville authorities, is that of West Abernathy, a young negro, who was taken into custody by police and federal authorities and held to the federal grand jury under a $5,000 bond.

Fireman Dorsey Moore, Will Darden, Ollie C. Herndon, James Bird, of Lexington, and Bugler Kenzie Houston, of Parsons, went as recruits from the service of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad to do service in France pulling trains, which are to convey troops about in that country.

H. M. Templeton, Winchester, sold 460 bales of cotton. The purchaser indicated that this shipment was to be sent abroad. The route, port and destination, of course, cannot be made known, but it is for the allies. Mr.
Templeton received $46,620 for the shipment.

Sam P. Robinson, 18 years old, walked from a point in Sumner county, 100 miles, to Cookeville that he might enlist as a private soldier in the regular army. He was accepted and left at once for Nashville to be mustered into the service and receive his military assignment.

The board of trustees of the University of the South at a meeting in Stawnee, re-elected Right Rev. Thomas W. Gallor, bishop of the diocese of Tennessee, as chancellor of the university for a term of six years. The present faculties of the theological and academic departments will hold over.

The United States civil service commission announces a series of competitive examinations to be held at Knoxville during the latter part of June and July. All kinds of laboratory assistants, mechanics, engineers, etc., offering a field of opportunity college trained and practical men, ages and experience.

Wage increases affecting the maintenance of way forces and employes of the shops of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad were announced by President John H. Peyton.
The increase will add about $500,000 annually to the payroll. The increase to ship forces also includes an eight-hour day.

To be a successful member of a Boys' Club, raise a lot of fine seed corn, sell the corn for a good price to farmers, encouraging the growing of better corn, and then with the proceeds purchase a Liberty Bond and contribute again toward the success of the country in its war with absolutism and kaiserism, is the accomplishment of Harold Leftwich, of Hampshire.

The war department has approved the plan of raising another infantry regiment in Tennessee. Adjutant General Chas. B. Rogan is slated for the colonelcy and James A. Gleason, of Knoxville, lieutenant colonel. It is expected that recruiting will begin at once in order to have the regiment, which will be known as the Second Tennessee Infantry, mustered into federal service July 25.

Subscriptions are being taken among the deaf of Knoxville and other large cities of the state to raise a fund sufficient to purchase and equip a motor ambulance for Red Cross service in France. The ambulance will be paid for by money contributed only by deaf persons, who have taken this method of partly recompensing for their inability to render active service to their country on the battlefield.

J. R. Bass, of Nashville, was elected president of the National Travelers' Protective association at the annual meeting in Savannah, Ga. Mr. Bass' choice was by unanimous vote, as he was unopposed, so great is his popularity in the organization. He has served for the past year as a member of the national board of directors, and a year previous he was president of the state organization.

The thousands of canines in Memphis, from the fluffy little "pompon" to the huge mastiff, inclusive are due to spend the next ninety days at the end of a chain and wear muzzles every time they appear on the streets unless their owners care to encounter a state law which provides a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500, or imprisonment in the county jail for three months, or both.

The presentation of a purse of gold, contributed by Italian residents of Memphis, marked the visit of the royal Italian mission in Memphis. The purse was raised for the relief of Italian children, orphaned by the war.
Headed by Mayor T. C. Ashcroft, the citizens committee met the distinguished visitors at the station. After a parade through the business section, members of the mission were con-principal points of interest about the city.

With $62,000 piled around him, Capt.
L. D. Kromer, paymaster at the officers' reserve training camp at Chickamauga park, began paying off the cadets last week. Adams, of Nashville, was the first to receive his pay, drawing down $35.87.

A gasoline boat bearing about 600 gallons of whisky, was seized by Sheriff John L. Callaway and deputies and nine men are charged with violating the "bone dry" law. The boat was found and the whisky seized at Lowe's ferry, on the Tennessee river, south of Knoxville. According to the reputed retail selling price of $2 per pint, the intoxicants seized would represent an anticipated gross revenue of about $600.

In recommending to the war department the county exemption boards for Tennessee, Governor Rye will be expected, insofar as possible, to select the county registration boards who conducted the recent registration. The war department takes the position that the registration board members, being familiar with the local conditions and acquainted with the people, would be better qualified to discharge the duties of the exemption boards.

Twenty-five blocks of the wholesale and retail district of Bristol were inundated in three feet of water last week. The flood was caused from a cloudburst on Beaver creek, six miles above Bristol, at Wallace. The damage will run into many thousands of dollars. Bristol people received one hour's previous notice of the deluge of water. They closed their doors and windows immediately, chinked them with sand, but nevertheless the water poured through.

Tennesseans commissioned by the war department to serve in the officers' reserve corps are: Clarkson Galleher, of Seawane, captain in quartermaster's department, Leroy H. Hammond, of Mt. Pleasant, first lieutenant in infantry, Eugene C. Callahan, of Memphis, second lieutenant in infantry, Albert T. Ingalls, of Chattanooga; George Elmer Horton, of Wartace; James Estelle Dunlap and Howard Lombard Walker, of Memphis, first lieutenants in officers' medical reserve corps.

All men who enlist in the Second Tennessee infantry will be exempt from draft. The war department has issued an order directing that all men who have registered and who enlist in the regiment are exempt from the draft requirements. Recruiting officers for the regiment have been furnished cards which will be sent to the adjutant general certifying the man has enlisted. The adjutant general will notify the officials in charge of draft of this fact and the man's name will be taken from the registration list.

Gradually the rolls of the Third Tennessee infantry are becoming thicker as many new recruits are added, and officers feel that before the day of mobilization, July 25, the necessary number of young men will be forthcoming to complete the regiment to full war strength. One thousand men are needed to fill the ranks, and the fact that most members are from Knoxville or vicinity will lead many patriots to choose the national guard service for personal reasons. "Join a company where you will be known," is the slogan of officers.

It is the purpose of the department of labor to organize the boys in the United States into a boys working reserve and immediate steps will be taken to mobilize the boys to work for the nation. Rutledge Smith, chairman of the state council of national defense, received a message from Secretary of Labor Wilson, asking him to nominate a competent man who would volunteer his services to the department as director for Tennessee. After going over the matter thoroughly, Mr. Smith wired Secretary Wilson the nomination of Prof. O. N. Smith, of Cumberland university, at Lebanon.

A number of German traveling men from the east have made application at the United Marshal's office in Knoxville for permits to pass through one half mile areas which are barred to alien enemies. Practically every point in Knoxville, Chattanooga and Kingsport is within a restricted zone, so that knights of the grip or other subjects of the Kaiser who want to continue to reside within, come within, pass through, be employed within, or conduct business within these cities must have a permit. Any alien enemy who does not now have such a permit may be arrested.

Two thousand all-wood-drop bottom gondola cars have been received by the L. & N. railroad. This type of car previously has been built of steel, but owing to a pressed need for more cars, and the exceedingly high cost of structural steel the wood car was reverted to again. The L. & N. built 1,000 of the cars in its own shops, and gave on order to other shops for 1,000. Each car has a carrying capacity of fifty tons, and each has six longitudinal drop doors. This many new cars placed in service on the lines of the L. & N. are expected to relieve to a great extent the congested freight conditions on its lines.

Tennessee is expected to contribute $500,000 to the American Red Cross fund, to be raised during "Red Cross week," June 18 to 25. This announcement was made by the executive committee of the finance committee in charge of the nation-wide campaign, whereby it is confidently expected $100,000,000 will be secured by contributions. This war fund will be used in relief of suffering humanity. Not only will it go to the aid of soldiers wounded in battle and to other ministrations for those at the front, but it will also aid dependents who are left at home by the defenders of liberty and democracy.

VALUE OF UNIONISM.

The value of the training of unionism is inestimable. Workers are educated and developed into resourceful, self reliant, useful citizens. Influences outside the organized labor movement have not been necessary to secure the economic betterment of the needle workers. They are solving their own problems and through their organized economic power have done more in four years to secure a better standard of life and sanitary conditions of work than political agents and regulations had done in all the previous years.—Samuel Gompers.

The Tired Worker.

The tired business man is no great problem for society. The tired workingman is. The victim of fatigue is not only a menace to public health, but to public morals and national integrity. It is the victim of fatigue who takes to drink and drugs. It is the victim of fatigue who looks for unnatural excitement in place of normal recreation. It is the victim of fatigue who seeks the low forms of entertainment instead of those things which inspire and build. A tired nation is a nation without ideals. An overworked people will be a frivolous people, an impatient people, a degenerate people. And America
